

January 30, 2011

Rochester writers

Making KODAK Film, The Illustrated Story of State-of-the-Art Photographic Film

Manufacturing by Robert L. Shanebrook (self-published, $29.95). Photographic film is one of the most technically sophisticated chemical products that is used in everyday life. With more than 25 diagrams and 130 photographs of Kodak's production materials and equipment, this book breaks down the complex filmmaking process in simple terms. Shanebrook, who worked for Eastman Kodak Co. for 35 years, lives in Irondequoit.

Return to Kodak R&D Retirees Website