Bottom 5 Performing S&P; 500 Stocks (EK, CPWR, LEG, MAS, WFR)

Below are the bottom five performing stocks in the S&P 500 INDEX,RTH. These companies should be watched over the next several days for further underperformance.

Eastman Kodak (NYSE:EK) is the worst performer, falling 3.03% today, below the S&P 500's decline of 0.09% thus far. Just behind are shares of Compuware (NASDAQ:CPWR), which is down 2.25%.

Rounding out the list of decliners are shares of Leggett & Platt (NYSE:LEG) and Masco (NYSE:MAS), which are down 2.23% and 1.87%, respectively. Finally we have MEMC Electronic Materials (NYSE:WFR) which is lower by 1.79% on this day.

Eastman Kodak Company develops, manufactures, and markets imaging products. The company provides professional and consumer digital cameras, laser images for radiologists, and photographic films for professionals and amateurs. Kodak also provides digital services for cinematographers, document scanners, aerial images, digital printers for commercial customers, and flat panel displays.

In spite of recently poor performance, there is potential upside of 388.3% in shares of Eastman Kodak based on a current price of $0.64 and an average consensus analyst price target of $3.12. Eastman Kodak shares should first meet with resistance at the 50-day moving average (MA) of $1.04 and find additional resistance at the 200-day MA of $2.36.
