

James T. Hach died in Rochester 8/5/17 from complications of heart surgery at age 76. He was a member of our Webster Presbyterian Church with his wife Jane, and when she passed away he married widow Barbara Spitzer, also a long time church member. Jim hailed from Clarion, PA and received a BS in Physics from Clarion State College in 1964, taught physics at Charlotte HS for a year, then headed to Penn State University to earn an MS in Solid State Science in 1968. He came to KRL in July 1968 as a physicist in Gordon Jarvis' Electrophotographic Systems Lab in the B81 Photomaterials Division. By 1985 he worked in the Physics Division and by 1990 in Device Technology and retired in 2003. He enjoyed playing trumpet in a college dance band and in the Webster Village Band, was a member of the Jaycees, and served as a scout Cubmaster. His memorial service is scheduled for 2 pm at the Webster Arboretum. Jim was a friendly, great guy and a proud Penn State supporter.
